

Solar power in Bahrain. Bahrain gets some of the world's highest levels of sun radiation. Given the abundance of sunlight in the kingdom, the country is focusing on producing solar electricity. Bahrain announced proposals to build a 100-Megawatt high-tech solar power station in agreement with the private sector in September 2017.

The Bahraini Ministry of Electricity and Water Affairs signed a contract to develop a 72MW solar photovoltaic (PV) project - the largest such scheme yet in Bahrain and representing a significant step towards the government's goal of developing 250MW of renewable energy capacity by 2025.
