Inverter now show 83% soc and bms show 84%. fingers crossed again I added a flush() and a 100ms delay before writing a frame on rs485, and to be on safe side, i added a 100ms delay after write and flush too. Hope it is the fix ! edit : looks good : if i remove / add rj45 fake battery, i see soc moving back and forth 1% on inverter.
