

How will Cuba's relationship with other countries impact the energy transition?

Cuba's relationships with other countries will be key to realizing the energy transition. Since 2000, Venezuela has been Cuba's primary source of imported oil. However, political and economic troubles in Venezuela caused oil exports to Cuba to fall by about half, resulting in Cuba increasingly seeking oil imports from Mexico and Russia.

What happened to Cuba's energy system in October?

For nearly a week in October, most of Cuba suffered near-total blackouts, the worst energy outages in decades. Cuba's energy and mines ministry said "conditions are more favorable now than in the last disconnection" and that the system was gradually being restored.

Are US sanctions hurting Cuba's energy sector?

Cuban officials say US economic sanctions, which increased under the previous Trump administration, have further crippled the already ailing energy sector, although critics also fault a lack of government investment in infrastructure. For nearly a week in October, most of Cuba suffered near-total blackouts, the worst energy outages in decades.

What happened to Cuba's energy grid?

People gather in a plaza as Cuba is hit by an island-wide blackout, in Havana, Cuba, October 18, 2024. Cuba's energy grid has collapsed, leaving millions without power, the latest in a series of failures on an island struggling from creaking infrastructure, natural disasters and economic turmoil.

Does Cuba rely on fossil fuels?

Cuba's power system is currently heavily reliant on fossil fuels. In 2022, fossil fuels accounted for about 95% of electricity generation, and about 48% of the fossil fuels used were imported, putting the country at high risk of price shocks and supply shortages.

Why is Cuba importing oil from Mexico and Russia?
