Can a rooftop solar panel be installed on a roof?

For most homeowners, rooftop solar panels provide an efficient and cost-effective way to generate photovoltaic power. However, a rooftop PV panel installation isn't always practical or even possible. Some roofs get too much shade, while others aren't structurally suited for mounting a photovoltaic system.

Can you install solar panels on a house?

If the roof of your house won't accommodate a PV installation, or if your unreasonably strict HOA won't allow it, consider using other structures on your property. Sheds, barns, garages, patio covers and carports all provide alternatives to traditional home rooftop panel placement.

Should you install solar panels in a shed or garage?

You might find solar panels look more natural when mounted to a shed or garage instead. Sheds and garages tend to have a more utilitarian feel than a home. If your shed or garage is located behind your home, you can easily install panels there so they have very little effect on your home's profile from the road.

Can you install solar panels on a carport?

Garden features like pergolas and gazebos also work well as a place to install poolside solar collectors for solar pool heaters, while carports can be paired with a home charging station to power an electric vehicle. Either way, you'll be adding a first-class luxury feature to your home while saving money on your utilities.

How do I choose a solar panel for my home?
